Continuation of 3. NOTE: The recitation in claims 1 and 47 of chemical reactions that sustain themselves until reactants of the chemical reactions (claim 1) or chemicals (claim 47) are depleted raises new issues that would require further consideration and search. In claims 20 and 48, the creation of hot electrons in pulses and the conversion of kinetic energy of the hot electrons raises new issues that would require further consideration and search. Claims 47 would be indefinite because, at line 4, it is not clear what would be meant by "reactants of the chemicals".
